River's Pollution Killing Thousands Of Fish Near Here

Fish are dying by the thousands in the Scioto river at the mouth of the Yellow Bud creek due to the pollution of the stream at Columbus. The water at this point is as black as ink and so poisonous that it is impossible for the fish to live in it.

Almost all kinds of dead fish can be seen floating down the river, including large bass, spoon fish, suckers, carp and many other kinds averaging from one to twenty pounds. The fish that are able to exist in the water are not good to eat, for the water poisons them, and, people who have eaten them become ill.

Where is our game protective association? Certainly something can be done to prevent this vast waste of our supply of good fish.

WOMAN IS FINED FOLLOWING WRECK

Mrs. Harry Fisher Gets $10 and Costs on Disorderly Conduct Charge.

Mrs. Grover Crumley, Circleville, and Mrs. Harry Fisher, Columbus, were given a hearing before J. W. Adkins, probate judge, Monday afternoon, following their arrest by Sheriff Frank Davis on charges of disturbing the peace .late Sunday.

The charge against Mrs. Grover Crumley was withdrawn. Mrs. Fisher pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs. She settled the account and was released.

The arrests followed an auto accident on the Adelphi pike near the Daniel Heffner farm. The auto in which the women were riding with their husbands collided with the car of Frederick Stuckey, of near Laurelville.

Monday morning Crumley was fined $100 and costs when he pleaded guilty to driving an auto while intoxicated and Fisher was fined $25 and costs on a drunk and disorderly charge.

GRAND JURY PROBE AHEAD

Turner Believed To Have Obtained Election Fraud Evidence In Cleveland.

Cleveland, Sept. 18—Special grand jury investigation into alleged fraud in Cuyahoga county elections will get under way next Monday when a panel of 15 jurors is selected from a venire of 35 drawn late Monday.

Presiding Judge Walter McMahon of criminal court ordered County Clerk George Wallace to draw the 35 names from the jury wheel at the request of Attorney General Edward C. Turner.

Turner, sent here by Gov. A. V. Donahey at the request of the Cleveland Bar association, has been gathering evidence to support the election fraud charges for a week.

DECLINES COMMENT

He has declined to reveal any of the results of his work, but his action in requesting the special grand jury is taken as a sure indication that he has obtained evidence which he believes is sufficient to warrant indictments.

When he opened his probe, he insisted that he would have to have names and facts before he could prefer charges. He is now ready to present his charges to the grand jury.

Another indication that Turner is prepared to settle down to serious prosecution of the fraud charges is seen in his announcement that he will establish headquarters in the fourth floor of old courthouse, near the grand jury room.

Assurance that persons appearing before the grand jury to tell of election frauds will be protected from any kind of prosecution was given by Turner.

HOOVER GIVES HIS PLEDGES TO LABORERS

Says Prosperity of Workingman Dependant On Another Republican Regime

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 18 — Herbert Hoover laid down his program for helping labor in a speech delivered here last night opening his campaign for the doubtful east.

Continued prosperity under a Republican protective tariff, stabilization of employment by seasonal distribution of construction on public works, and restrictions against excessive injunctions were promised by the Republican presidential candidate.

Hoover also urged continuance of restricted immigration with only such modifications as are necessary to relieve hardships against families; freedom in collective bargaining; and measures for increasing efficiency to bring about more perfect living conditions.

Prosperity Essential

"We can build toward perfection only upon a foundation of prosperity," the candidate said.

"Education, prohibition, invention, scientific discovery, increase in skill in managers and employes have contributed to magnificent progress"

But now the immediate problem is furnishing a job for every man who wants to work, he added. He denied there is any widespread unemployment. He admitted there are depressions in the textile and bituminous coal in-

SMITH GETS CHEER AS HE GREETS WEST

Democratic Nominee Arrives In Heart of Agriculture Section for Speeches.

OMAHA, Sept. 18— (UP) — Governor Alfred E Smith took off his brown derby and waved the west a New York welcome here today.

Omaha, in the heart of the farm country to which Smith will appeal, waved back and gave the Democratic candidate a characteristic "Howdy Stranger." Throngs, greeted him at the station, a crowd curious and eager to see this man who rose from the East Side of New York.

Smith has seen this city before but never like he saw it today. Farnan-st, the principle thoroughfare, was thronged with countless persons who cheered wildly as the governor and his party drove by.

Receives Ovation

Smith stopped here in 1908 and 1920, returning from the Democratic National conventions in Denver and San Francisco.

As his train came to a stop a band at Union Station started playing "Sidewalks of New York" and a great cheer went up. It was ten minutes before the governor and his party could emerge through the crowd.

With his farm speech here tonight, he will open a campaign to win farm votes in this and other surrounding agricultural states, and will also appeal for that independent vote which flocked to LaFollette banner in 1924.

Wisconsin In Lines

Optimistic reports from Wisconsin where Smith has considerable admitted strength because of his wet stand, and from Minnesota, usually a strong Republican state, were brought the candidate by Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York who boarded the special train at Chicago last night for a conference.

Wagner has been campaigning in Wisconsin and returned there today.

He assured Smith there is no doubt he will carry Wisconsin and that he had received reports of amazing and unexpected Smith sentiment in Minnesota which places the state in the doubtful column. The large German vote in those states is swinging to Smith, Wagner said.

Hope For Nebraska

Smith will speak at St. Paul, and Milwaukee in the second week of his campaign.

Democrats are hopeful of carrying Nebraska which is Smith's immediate concern.

Just before he left Chicago, Illinois Democratic leaders assured him he would carry that state.

FIVE ESCAPE JAIL

DAYTON, O., Sept. 18— Sawing two bars from the window of the second floor, five prisoners escaped last night from the Montgomery-co jail here. They tied three blankets together, using them as a rope.

CALIFORNIA CHICKEN RANCH IS BELIEVED TO BE MURDER FARM

Youth Is Sought as Evidence of 11 Boys' Deaths is Unearthed In West.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept 18.—Belief that the chicken rance of Gordon Stewart Northcutt had been turned into a wholesale murder farm grew in police circles today. Sheriff Clem Sweeters declared he believed eleven small boys had been murdered and buried on the farm.

Sweeters' declaration resulted from the finding of bones and a blood-stained sack on the chicken ranch, in Riverside county. While in some circles it is doubted that these bones were of human beings, officials investigating the case are convinced that they have unearthed the graves of several of the victims

SEEKING YOUTH

Police hoped that arrest of young Northcott and his mother, who fled from the ranch several weeks ago, would be effected soon.

George Cyrus Northcott, father of the youth, was held as a material witness and Sanford Clark, who told of indignities Northcott perpetrated on small boys, was held for immigration authorities due to supposed illegal entry into the United States from Canada.

Detectives continued to dig in almost every corner of the chicken farm and obtained further evidence that bodies had been buried.

BUZZARD IS CLUE

A buzzard, flying over a spot on the ranch, guided the searchers to the bloody sack and nearby were found what were reported to be two perfect pelvic bones, buried two feet deep.

They also found a Boy Scout whistle. Louis and Nelson Winslow of Pomona, said by Clark to have been victims of young Northcott, disappeared while returning from a Scout meeting.

Clark said he had been kidnaped and abused by young Northcott and had been aware of the murder of other victims.

TRUCK DRIVER IS SEVERELY INJURED

Pinned Beneath Wreckage When Vehicle Overturns on Westfall Road.

James Miller, of Columbus, was severely injured when a five-ton Garford truck belonging to W. E. Sholl Co., of Columbus, overturned on the Westfall road Monday afternoon. The truck was going around a curve and due to a defective steering device, the truck plunged down a 20-ft, embankment, turning over and pinning Miller under the cab of the truck.

No one noticed the accident for nearly half an hour, when John Cowens and Will Jester, of near Yellow Bud, found the injured man beneath the truck. The truck had completely turned upside down on the cab, catching the driver's leg in the wreckage. He was brought to Dr. Jackson's office, where it was found that his right foot was badly mangled. The injured man was removed to Columbus.

HEADQUARTERS OF DEMOCRATS HERE

The Democratic party in Pickaway-co has selected its headquarters by renting the rooms under Gamer's Dry Cleaning establishment, and possession will be given at once. A meeting of those appointed for the renting of the headquarters will be held Tuesday evening.

This committeed is composed of W. L. Henn, C. A. Leist and Harry Briggs. It is anticipated that within the week the headquarters will be open at all times and will commence the activities for the coming election.

The 13.31 acre tract located on the Jackson-pk., was sold to Donald H Watt, Circleville, for $157 per acre.

The land was formerly the property of Nancy P. Owens, deceased.

HURRICANE IS SPENDING FURY ON MAINLAND

Tales of Suffering and Death Pour in From Thousand Mile Path of Gale.

BULLETIN

FORT PIERCE, Fla., Sept. 18. — (UP.) — All available doctors and nurses here were dispatched to West Palm Beach today with medical supplies and food stuffs.

The Red Cross unit here had a report that could not be confirmed, placing the death toll in Palm Beach county at 85.

By United Press

The tropical hurricane, one of the most devastating and extensive on record was spending its fury in the United States today, leaving behind it a trail of almost a thousand miles of wreckage and death.

Starting at the bottom of the Caribbean Sea near South America last Wednesday, the storm moved with relentless fury over the scattered islands of the Caribbean, advancing steadily along a curved course over island after island until it reached the United States.

Curving seaward again after its destruction in Florida, it moved to the northwest and storm warnings were posted as far north as Boston which would make the whole path of the storm about 2,000 miles.

MORE THAN 1000 DIE

The death toll can be estimated accurately, but may be more than 1,000. The most reliable figures indicated 27 deaths in Florida, 510 in Guadeloupe, more than 200 in Porto Rico and scattered deaths in other places. The first point to report damage from the storm was Martinique, French colony in the Windward islands, although points south of there may have been stricken and have not yet been reported.

GIRL IS WOUNDED BY RIFLE BULLET

Sarah Louise Willoughby In Hospital With Leaden Missle In Chest.

Sarah Louise, aged three, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Willoughby, of Roxabel, Ross-co., is in Grant hospital, Columbus, with a bullet in her chest, suffered Sunday when a rifle with which she and some little friends were playing, discharged.

The accident occurred Sunday afternoon at the home of Stanley Wells, Walnut-twp.

The gun had been used to shoot chickens and was placed in an automobile. The children were playing in the car and one of them happened to pull the trigger on the automatic .22 caliber rifle. The bullet passed through the knee of Sarah Louise and plowed upward, lodging in her chest.

She was given first aid by Dr. Hosler, Ashville, and taken to the hospital in Columbus.

Her condition is reported as serious.

KILLS CHILD, SELF

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18— Fears of a young mother that her 20-month-old son would inherit her nervous disorders caused her to chloroform the boy and kill herself at Edgewater park early Tuesday, according to police. The body of the mother, Mrs. Evelyn Schupple, 24, with the dead baby in her lap, was found in her auto.

CONDITION SERIOUS

The condition of Miss Ella Barrick, who fell at the home of her niece Mrs. Alfred Lee on Northridge-rd Monday continued serious Tuesday. Miss Barrick struck her head on the cement drive and has been semi-conscious since. It is not known whether or not her skull is fractured, but owing to her age of nearly 80, the injury may prove fatal.

Storm Eye-Witness Tells Of Havoc

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept 18 —(UP)— Passengers who arrived here fifteen hours late on the Havana special from southern Florida have provided a vivid eye-witness account of the destruction caused by the tropical hurricane

H Hilliard of Easton, Tex who boarded the train at Miami told the following story:

"After we left Miami, we ran into the path of the storm about 15 mile south of Palm Beach.

WIND LIKE SIRENS

"Torrential rains and wind struck the train, rocking the cars from side to side. The noise of the wind sounded like a hundred sirens blowing at once.

"In preparation for clearing a path through the storm zone, a wreck train had preceded us out of Miami and we were stopped constantly behind the wreck train while the crew removed telegraph and telephone poles from the right of way.

"In many instances portions of houses were blown on the track and the crew labored for hours clearing the way.

UNDER MARTIAL LAW

"It took us five hours to get from the south end of Palm Beach to the north end. When we halted at what had once been a station, the wind had stopped and groups of people were wandering about as though in a trance.

"Two men boarded the train and had to show special officers their military passes. Then we knew the city was under martial law We stayed there long enough for us to find out that the Palm Beaches had been the worst hit.

"The city was without lights The sight from the train was one of complete desolation and ruin It was a ghastly sight to see wrecked buildings leaning all about, and many persons homeless

RESIDENCES LEVELLED

"Those questioned said almost the whole residential section of Palm Beach had been levelled. They said about 100 persons had been hurt and were being houses in emergency hospitals and buildings which were still standing.

"People said many of the well-constructed stone buildings had been only slightly damaged, and that it was the wooden structures which went down before a wind estimated by some to have been blowing at 150 miles an hour Others said they thought the wind had not gone beyond 100 miles an hour

FLOOD WATERS MENACE

Other passengers told the United Press that they could see houses scattered about in Palm Beach in almost unbelievable shapes. Persons who met the train at the Palm Beach station said West Palm beach had been almost levelled.

Flood waters poured in on he shattered buildings, and groups of refugees could be seen milling in the streets, the passengers said.

GRAND JURY PROBE AHEAD

Turner Believed To Have Obtained Election Fraud Evidence In Cleveland.

Cleveland, Sept. 18.—Special grand jury investigation into alleged fraud in Cuyahoga county elections will get under way next Monday when a panel of 15 jurors is selected from a venire of 35 drawn late Monday.

Presiding Judge Walter McMahon of criminal court ordered County Clerk George Wallace to draw the 35 names from the jury wheel at the request of Attorney General Edward C. Turner.

Turner, sent here by Gov. A. V. Donahey at the request of the Cleveland Bar association, has been gathering evidence to support the election fraud charges for a week.

DECLINES COMMENT

He has declined to reveal any of the results of his work, but his action in requesting the special grand jury is taken as a sure indication that he has obtained evidence which he believes is sufficient to warrant indictments.

When he opened his probe, he insisted that he would have to have names and facts before he could prefer charges. He is now ready to present his charges to the grand jury.

Another indication that Turner is prepared to settle down to serious prosecution of the fraud charges is seen in his announcement that he will establish headquarters in the fourth floor of old courthouse, near the grand jury room.

Assurance that persons appearing before the grand jury to tell of election frauds will be protected from any kind of prosecution was given by Turner.

CALIFORNIA CHICKEN RANCH IS BELIEVED TO BE MURDER FARM

Youth Is Sought as Evidence of 11 Boys' Deaths is Unearthed In West.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept 18. —Belief that the chicken rance of Gordon Stewart Northcutt had been turned into a wholesale murder farm grew in police circles today. Sheriff Clem Sweeters declared he believed eleven small boys had been murdered and buried on the farm.

Sweeters' declaration resulted from the finding of bones and a blood-stained sack on the chicken ranch, in Riverside county. While in some circles it is doubted that these bones were of human beings, officials investigating the case are convinced that they have unearthed the graves of several of the victims.

SEEKING YOUTH

Police hoped that arrest of young Northcott and his mother, who fled from the ranch several weeks ago, would be effected soon.

George Cyrus Northcott, father of the youth, was held as a material witness and Sanford Clark, who told of indignities Northcott perpetrated on small boys, was held for immigration authorities due to supposed illegal entry into the United States from Canada.

Detectives continued to dig in almost every corner of the chicken farm and obtained further evidence that bodies had been buried.

BUZZARD IS CLUE

A buzzard, flying over a spot on the ranch, guided the searchers to the bloody sack and nearby were found what were reported to be two perfect pelvic bones, buried two feet deep.

They also found a Boy Scout whistle. Louis and Nelson Winslow of Pomona, said by Clark to have been victims of young Northcott, disappeared while returning from a Scout meeting.

Clark said he had been kidnaped and abused by young Northcott and had been aware of the murder of other victims.

TRUCK DRIVER IS SEVERELY INJURED

Pinned Beneath Wreckage When Vehicle Overturns on Westfall Road.

James Miller, of Columbus, was severely injured when a five-ton Garford truck belonging to W. E. Sholl Co., of Columbus, overturned on the Westfall road Monday afternoon. The truck was going around a curve and due to a defective steering device, the truck plunged down a 20-ft, embankment, turning over and pinning Miller under the cab of the truck.

No one noticed the accident for nearly half an hour, when John Cowens and Will Jester, of near Yellow Bud, found the injured man beneath the truck. The truck had completely turned upside down on the cab, catching the driver's leg in the wreckage. He was brought to Dr. Jackson's office, where it was found that his right foot was badly mangled. The injured man was removed to Columbus.

HEADQUARTERS OF DEMOCRATS HERE

The Democratic party in Pickaway-co. has selected its headquarters by renting the rooms under Gamer's Dry Cleaning establishment, and possession will be given at once. A meeting of those appointed for the renting of the headquarters will be held Tuesday evening.

This committeed is composed of W. L. Henn, C. A. Leist and Harry Briggs. It is anticipated that within the week the headquarters will be open at all times and will commence the activities for the coming election.

TWO TRACTS SOLD

At the sheriff's sale of real estate held at the court house Monday ,the 52 acre tract situated near the Union church was sold to George Bolender, whose land adjoins the tract, at $59.75 per acre.

The 13.31 acre tract located on the Jackson-pk., was sold to Donald H. Watt, Circleville, for $157 per acre.

The land was formerly the property of Nancy P. Owens, deceased.

HURRICANE IS SPENDING FURY ON MAINLAND

Tales of Suffering and Death Pour in From Thousand Mile Path of Gale.

BULLETIN

FORT PIERCE, Fla., Sept. 18. — (UP.) — All available doctors and nurses here were dispatched to West Palm Beach today with medical supplies and food stuffs.

The Red Cross unit here had a report that could not be confirmed, placing the death toll in Palm Beach county at 85.

By United Press

The tropical hurricane, one of the most devastating and extensive on record was spending its fury in the United States today, leaving behind it a trail of almost a thousand miles of wreckage and death.

Starting at the bottom of the Caribbean Sea near South America last Wednesday, the storm moved with relentless fury over the scattered islands of the Caribbean, advancing steadily along a curved course over island after island until it reached the United States.

Curving seaward again after its destruction in Florida, it moved to the northwest and storm warnings were posted as far north as Boston which would make the whole path of the storm about 2,000 miles.

MORE THAN 1000 DIE

The deaths could not be estimated accurately, but may be more than 1,000. The most reliable figures indicated 27 deaths in Florida, 510 in Guadeloupe, more than 200 in Porto Rico and scattered deaths in other places. The first point to report damage from the storm was Martinique, French colony in the Windward islands, although points south of there may have been stricken and have not yet been reported.

GIRL IS WOUNDED BY RIFLE BULLET

Sarah Louise Willoughby In Hospital With Leaden Missle In Chest.

Sarah Louise, aged three, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Willoughby, of Roxabel, Ross-co., is in Grant hospital, Columbus, with a bullet in her chest, suffered Sunday when a rifle with which she and some little friends were playing, discharged.

The accident occurred Sunday afternoon at the home of Stanley Wells, Walnut-twp.

The gun had been used to shoot chickens and was placed in an automobile. The children were playing in the car and one of them happened to pull the trigger on the automatic .22 caliber rifle. The bullet passed through the knee of Sarah Louise and plowed upward, lodging in her chest.

She was given first aid by Dr. Hosler, Ashville, and taken to the hospital in Columbus.

Her condition is reported as serious.

KILLS CHILD, SELF

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18— Fears of a young mother that her 20-month-old son would inherit her nervous disorders caused her to chloroform the boy and kill herself at Edgewater park early Tuesday, according to police. The body of the mother, Mrs. Evelyn Schupple, 24, with the dead baby in her lap, was found in her auto.

CONDITION SERIOUS

The condition of Miss Ella Barrick, who fell at the home of her niece Mrs. Alfred Lee on Northridge-rd Monday, continued serious Tuesday. Miss Barrick struck her head on the cement drive and has been semi-conscious since. It is not known whether or not her skull is fractured, but owing to her age of nearly 80, the injury may prove fatal.

Storm Eye-Witness Tells Of Havoc

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 18—(UP)—Passengers who arrived here fifteen hours late on the Havana special from southern Florida have provided a vivid eye-witness account of the destruction caused by the tropical hurricane.

H. Hilliard of Easton, Tex., who boarded the train at Miami, told the following story:

"After we left Miami, we ran into the path of the storm about 15 miles south of Palm Beach.

WIND LIKE SIRENS

"Torrential rains and wind struck the train, rocking the cars from side to side. The noise of the wind sounded like a hundred sirens blowing at once.

"In preparation for clearing a path through the storm zone, a wreck train had preceded us out of Miami and we were stopped constantly behind the wreck train while the crew removed telegraph and telephone poles from the right of way.

"In many instances portions of houses were blown on the track and the crew labored for hours clearing the way.

UNDER MARTIAL LAW

"It took us five hours to get from the south end of Palm Beach to the north end. When we halted at what had once been a station, the wind had stopped and groups of people were wandering about as though in a trance.

"Two men boarded the train and had to show special officers their military passes. Then we knew the city was under martial law. We stayed there long enough for us to find out that the Palm Beaches had been the worst hit.

"The city was without lights. The sight from the train was one of complete desolation and ruin. It was a ghastly sight to see wrecked buildings leaning all about, and many persons homeless.

RESIDENCES LEVELLED

"Those questioned said almost the whole residential section of Palm Beach had been levelled. They said about 100 persons had been hurt and were being houses in emergency hospitals and buildings which were still standing.

"People said many of the well-constructed stone buildings had been only slightly damaged, and that it was the wooden structures which went down before a wind estimated by some to have been blowing at 150 miles an hour. Others said they thought the wind had not gone beyond 100 miles an hour."

FLOOD WATERS MENACE

Other passengers told the United Press that they could see houses scattered about in Palm Beach in almost unbelievable shapes. Persons who met the train at the Palm Beach station said West Palm beach had been almost levelled.

Flood waters poured in on the shattered buildings, and groups of refugees could be seen milling in the streets, the passengers said.

VETERAN ACE BEATEN ONLY AFTER FIGHT

Frenchman Is Now King of American Tennis After Thrilling Court Duel.

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY

FOREST HILLS, N Y., Sept. 18. —Henri Cochet began his reign as king of American tennis today, but his journey to the throne almost met with mishap at the last minute.

While Cochet won the laurels in the forty-seventh annual national singles championships, Francis T. Hunter carried over most of the praise for his flaming spirit which stood off Cochet until the last ditch in the final yesterday.

Accorded only one chance in three of winning before the match Hunter was within two points and one game of toppling Cochet in what would have been the biggest upset of the lawn tennis year only to crumble before the Frenchman's everlasting attack in five sets, 4-6, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3.

VERY NEAR DEFEAT

Cochet came to the United States this season expressively for the purpose of winning the American tournament—the only tennis major title he never before held —and came very near having it snatched from his grasp by a 34-year-old veteran who was relegated to the scrap-heap before the tournament started.

No on expected Hunter—despite his great play against Borotra, Crawford and Lott in the earlier rounds—to carry the attack to Cochet and send the little Frenchman into retreat at the outset of the match.

No one expected Hunter—despite the play so relentlessly that France's outstanding player for 1928 would have to stage a desperate rally in the last two sets to win. No one expected Hunter to come as close as two points and one game of victory.

SPLENDID COURAGE

The marvel of it all is that Hunter did these things, and others, with no more stroke equipment than a brutal forearm drive plus magnificent courage in the face of odds.

There was no reason for Cochet to toy with Hunter, if that's what the Frenchman was guilty of doing when he lost the opening set against both Fritz Mercur and Gregory Mangin. Cochet is a notoriously slow starter, but he was out after every point, against Hunter, the sooner he got them, the better.

It was Francis T. Hunter, coached and cheered on by "Big Bill" Tilden, who forced the great Cochet to drive the ball into one net 52 times and to hit it out 58 times. It was Hunter who forced Cochet to call upon every shot known to him to pull the match out in the crucial fourth set. It was Hunter who forced Cochet to battle two hours and 20 minutes to defeat a player who had lost practically every one of his major engagements until the national tournament.

Whether or not Bucky Harris is let out as manager of the Washington Senators when the 1928 season ends, he and his men have the satisfaction of having played a prominent part in the closing part of the season.

With little to gain except fourth place, the Senators set out in September to break the hearts of the pennant contenders. First they took two games out of three from the Yankees and dragged the world's champions down. Then, impartially, they turned upon the Athletics and took two of three from them.

Heading into New York just before the "crucial" series which the Yanks and Mackmen put on, the Senators continued their ravages upon the percentage of the world's champions. It was a double victory for Washington which enabled the Athletics to take the lead for the first time in more than two years.

Bucky Harris laughed when it was reported that he would be released by Clark Griffith this fall. The able young manager probably has many more years of good baseball in his system.

CAPTURED TWO FLAGS

Harris built two pennant winners for Griffith, winning one world's championship after a stormy series with the New York Giants. The Senators started the present season with high hopes, which were based largely upon the pitching prospects. The club went to pieces, however, due largely to injuries, and fell so far behind that it never could catch up with the leaders. The rise of the St. Louis Browns helped to emphasize the Senators' discomfiture. At one time, Washington was back in the cellar, where Washington teams stayed for so many sad seasons.

The absence of "Goose" Goslin in the first part of the season proved costly to the Senators. Harris himself was out for a time, which destroyed the inner defense of the team. A green shortstop and a green first baseman couldn't get together without Bucky's help.

Goslin came back to lead the league in hitting, although his arm never did mend. He tried throwing with the other arm without much success, and even now the center fielder has to relay long drives from deep left.

PITCHERS IMPROVED

About a month ago, Bucky's pitchers started doing their stuff. Hadley, Braxton, Marberry and Jones began to pitch winning baseball. Had they done so all the season about the best they could against the faltering Yankees early in September.

The failure of the Senators has been a great disappointment to Washington fans, who are just as fickle as the fans of other cities, and demand a winner. Attendance figures at Griffith stadium fell off, and complaints were loudly voiced against the club's poor showing.

This state of affairs led to the report that Griffith had decided to let Harris go and turn over the club to another manager for the season of 1929. While the Washington owner is not known as "Big Hearted Clark," he enjoys no unusual reputation for ingratitude, and at the time it seemed unlikely that he would cut Bucky adrift after all the latter has done to put the Senators back on the baseball camp after so many seasons of gloom.

PICKAWAY LOSES TO SALTCREEK 9

Boys Are Defeated, But Girls' Team Takes Forfeit— Field Is Needed.

Pickaway township high school pupils and teachers journeyed to Saltcreek last Friday afternoon expecting to play two games (boys and girls) of base ball. The girls were disappointed because the Saltcreek girls forfeited. This gave the locals a 1 to 0 technical victory; but they would have preferred to play and take their chances.

The Saltcreek boys took the lead early in their game and had Pickaway on the little end of a 9 to 1 score at the end of the second inning. In the third the local team rallied and scored six runs. The final score was 12 to 9 in favor of Saltcreek. The game was only five innings.

The High School Athletic Association organized last week and elected the following officers: Ralph Enock, president; Frank Graves, vice president; Dorothy Anderson, secretary; Lester Wolford, treasurer; Robert Bush, sergeant-at-arms. The board of control will be elected at a later meeting.

The Saltcreek teams are scheduled to play here Friday. A big handicap is a place to play. Since the new addition was erected the school ground is not large enough and it is difficult to secure a suitable field close. Several have offered fields, but most of them are too far from the premises or will take too much time to put in suitable condition. Nevertheless, the school is very grateful to its many friends who have so kindly offered to help.

Attendance the first two weeks was good. Monday of this week 24 were out. Pupils who miss are at a big disadvantage. It is also hard on the teacher and a handicap to the entire grade. Parents who are really interested in the welfare of their boys and girls will not keep them out unless absolutely necessary.

EAGLES TO HAVE BIG TRAP SHOOT

Many Prizes Are Offered For Gun Event Scheduled For Wednesday, Sept. 19.

Wednesday, Sept. 19, the grounds of the Circleville Gun club will be thrown open to one of the greatest trap shoots of its kind ever held in the county. The shoot will be held under the auspices of the Circleville Aerie of Eagles.

There will be 10 events of 15 sixteen-yard targets.

The prizes will be in the form of merchandise. Over $600 worth of prizes will be given away, 125 prizes in all.

Each shooter, shooting through the entire program, will receive a $5 prize. Ties will be decided by lot.

The practice traps will be open at 10 o'clock, the program starting at 12.

PICKAWAY LOSES TO SALTCREEK 9

Boys Are Defeated, But Girls' Team Takes Forfeit—Field Is Needed.

Pickaway township high school pupils and teachers journeyed to Saltcreek last Friday afternoon expecting to play two games (boys and girls) of base ball. The girls were disappointed because the Saltcreek girls forfeited. This gave the locals a 1 to 0 technical victory; but they would have preferred to play and take their chances.

The Saltcreek boys took the lead early in their game and had Pickaway on the little end of a 9 to 1 score at the end of the second inning. In the third the local team rallied and scored six runs. The final score was 12 to 9 in favor of Saltcreek. The game was only five innings.

The High School Athletic Association organized last week and elected the followjng officers: Ralph Enock, president; Frank Graves, vice president; Dorothy Anderson, secretary; Lester Wolford, treasurer; Robert Bush, sergeant-at-arms. The board of control will be elected at a later meeting.

The Saltcreek teams are scheduled to play here Friday. A big handicap is a place to play. Since the new addition was erected the school ground is not large enough and it is difficult to secure a suitable field close. Several have offered fields, but most of them are too far from the premises or will take too much time to put in suitable condition. Nevertheless, the school is very grateful to its many friends who have so kindly offered to help.

Attendance the first two weeks was good. Monday of this week 24 were out. Pupils who miss are at a big disadvantage. It is also hard on the teacher and a handicap to the entire grade. Parents who are really interested in the welfare of their boys and girls will not keep them out unless absolutely necessary.

EAGLES TO HAVE BIG TRAP SHOOT

Many Prizes Are Offered For Gun Event Scheduled For Wednesday, Sept. 19.

Wednesday, Sept. 19, the grounds of the Circleville Gun club will be thrown open to one of the greatest trap shoots of its kind ever held in the county. The shoot will be held under the auspices of the Circleville Aerie of Eagles.

There will be 10 events of 15 sixteen-yard targets.

The prizes will be in the form of merchandise. Over $600 worth of prizes will be given away, 125 prizes in all.

Each shooter, shooting through the entire program, will receive a $5 prize. Ties will be decided by lot.

The practice traps will be open at 10 o'clock, the program starting at 12.

5 SURVIVORS TELL OF LAKE TRAGEDY

Quintet, Found Afloat On Raft, Tell of Cattle Boat Sinking.

OWEN SOUND ONT, Sept. 18—An unknown number of persons were carried to death Saturday when the Lake Steamer Nanasco foundered off Griffith Island in Lake Huron, it was learned here when the Steamer Manitoba docked with five survivors of the disaster who were rescued from a raft after drifting more than 60 hours.

The Nanasco carried a crew of 17 and was believed to have had four passengers.

Those rescued were Capt John McKay; Chief Officer Osborne Long; Pursuer Arthur Middlebro; Roy Fox, oiler and E Wallace, a cattle drover of Oil Springs, Ont., a passenger.

Engineer Tom McCutgheon of the Nanasco died from exposure aboard the raft, and his body was cast overboard to lighten the life raft.

The engineer's clothes were removed and given to Middlebro who had left the sinking ship scantily clad and was slowly dying from exposure.

The Nanasco carried a cargo of cattle. It foundered "without warning," survivors said, and it was feared the other members of the crew and passengers were lost.

WARN EASTERN COAST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18—(UP) The weather bureau today ordered storm warnings posted as far north as Boston because the great Indian hurricane, centered near Savannah, Ga., at 8 a.m., and reported moving north-northward.

Warnings for northeast storm winds were posted from Charleston, S. C., to Boston and for northwest winds from Jacksonville, Fla., to Charleston.

Meantime the Red Cross was informed by J. F. McMillan, chairman of the Brevard county chapter, that martial law had been proclaimed in West Palm Beach, which suffered heavy damage in the hurricane Sunday. No one is permitted to cross bridges into the hurricane-stricken area there, McMillan said.

A. T. Eide, of Haines City informed Red Cross headquarters that 15 persons were dead and many were homeless at Bartow.

Telegrams received by the relief workers here described the storm as having caused greater damage than that of 1926, and said that parts of the most affected area were in need of relief.

No general estimate of casualties has been received here

Damage in the Florida storm was reckoned in the millions in telegrams received at Red Cross headquarters today The relief organization was preparing for one of the greatest fund raising drives in its history to care for sufferers in the West Indies and Florida. Funds already are arriving here from various chapters in the United States but no effort has been made so far to calculate the contributions

SUFFERING INTENSE

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 18 (AP)—Suffering was intense on this hurricane swept island today.

The economic disaster that has robbed the island of her wealth, the shattered homes and ruined crops were temporarily in the background while the people begged for food and shelter

An epidemic of tphoid has broken out at Aguadilla, on the northwest coast

At Gurabo, a hunger-maddened throng of 6,000 clamored for food and the authorities were powerless against them.

At Maguabo the situation was described as "terrible," A thousand people were living in the tumbled ruins of their homes The children begged for food and their parents were becoming desperate

DESPERATE, SHOOTS SELF

At Aibonito, a desperate man, all his possessions gone and facing starvation, shot himself.

Food was on the way from the United States and the neighboring Dominican republic was sending supplies of food and cattle.

The estimate of deaths still remained uncertain, with so many areas unreported. It was known that about 200 had been killed, and complete reports might possibly raise the figures to several hundred. Not more than six deaths occurred in San Juan, the greatest casualties being reported from points scattered through the island.

GAS IS URGED FOR PEACH TREE BORER

Orchard men at this season can profitably gas one of the worst orchard enemies with which they have to deal, the peach tree borer.

Paradichlorobenzene, a fine white crystalline chemical which gives off a gas heavier than air, is just as deadly as the long name indicates.

The application of this chemical should be made between this date and the first of October. Detailed directions for the use of this chemical may be secured from the county agent.

The peach tree borer has been exacting a very severe toll throughout Pickaway-co. from orchards and the method of gassing at this time of the year has given from 90 to 95 per cent control in combating this enemy.

dustries which must be relieved with all the energy the government can afford. During the last two months, however, he said, there has been a higher record of production and consumption of goods than during corresponding months of any previous year.

Urges His Program

He said a high degree of employment could be maintained by continuing Republican policies and carrying out his program.

The nominee devoted one sentence to the problem of using injunctions in labor disputes, saying: "It is necessary to impose restrictions on the excessive use of injunctions." He likewise spent one sentence on the contractual relations between employers and workers, saying "The position of the Republican party is in positive support of free collective bargaining"

Hoover said he was quite satisfied generally with the present situation "We have had a far longer period of stability in industry and commerce and a far greater security of employment than ever before in our history," He said, "we have the highest ingenuity and efficiency in the operation of our individual industries. We are exporting more goods abroad than ever in our history"

Sums Up Opinion

The theme of his program was summed up by the nominee as follows:

"Our economic system has abuses; it has grave faults in its operation But we can build toward perfection only upon a foundation of prosperity. Poverty is not the cause of progress.

"Enduring national life cannot be builded upon the bowed and sweating backs of oppressed and embittered men and women. It must be uplifted and upheld by the willing and eager hands of the whole people. They will uphold it if our economic life be built for the whole people, not for any special group."

dustries which must be relieved with all the energy the government can afford. During the last two months, however, he said, there has been a higher record of production and consumption of goods than during corresponding months of any previous year.

Urges His Program

He said a high degree of employment could be maintained by continuing Republican policies and carrying out his program.

The nominee devoted one sentence to the problem of using injunctions in labor disputes, saying: "It is necessary to impose restrictions on the excessive use of injunctions." He likewise spent one sentence on the contractual relations between employers and workers, saying: "The position of the Republican party is in positive support of free collective bargaining."

Hoover said he was quite satisfied generally with the present situation. "We have had a far longer period of stability in industry and commerce and a far greater security of employment than ever before in our history," He said, "we have the highest ingenuity and efficiency in the operation of our individual industries. We are exporting more goods abroad than ever in our history."

Sums Up Opinion

The theme of his program was summed up by the nominee as follows:

"Our economic system has abuses; it has grave faults in its operation. But we can build toward perfection only upon a foundation of prosperity. Poverty is not the cause of progress.

"Enduring national life cannot be builded upon the bowed and sweating backs of oppressed and embittered men and women. It must be uplifted and upheld by the willing and eager hands of the whole people. They will uphold it if our economic life be built for the whole people, not for any special group."

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet what most physicians would tell you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot pat away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

BIBLE THOUGHT

THE GOOD DAY COMING — And He (God) shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people; and they shall beat their swords into ploughshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more. — Isa. 2:4.

PRAYER — Even so, come quickly, Lord Jesus.

THE TIME FOR ACTION

You have heard, of course, that obedience is one of the primary virtues. But did it ever occur to you that there are times when a willful, reckless disobedience is one of the finest qualities a man can exhibit?

An Italian submarine maneuvering off the coast of Spezia recently, got stuck in the mud at the bottom. Officers and men tried to work it loose, failed and prepared to die in the unpleasant way the crews of sunken submarines must die.

There was another submarine in the vicinity and its commander discovered what had happened.

Now Italian naval rules provide that no submarine commander may try to salvage the wreck of another. Submarines are too costly and fragile for that sort of work; all that a commander may do is radio for help from the nearest naval base.

But this commander knew how to break a rule or two when the time came. Instead of calling help, he went down to the disabled submarine. By careful maneuvering he got the nose of his own ship against the sunken hull of the other, and pushed it loose. After an hour of ticklish work he freed it, and both submarines came safely to the surface.

If he had obeyed the rules, rescue ships would have arrived in 24 hours or so, and the divers would have gone to work. Probably they would have raised the sunken sub eventually, but, as sometimes happens in those cases, her crew might have been dead.

So the Italian navy department after starting to punish the disobedient commander, thought better of it and restored him to his command, heaping him with honors.

There are many rules in this complicated modern world, and most of them exist for our own good. A prudent man will obey them.

But there come times when prudence is a miserable virtue, and when rules exist only to be broken.

For prudence is the opposite of daring. And no matter how settled and orderly we may become, we still have an especially warm spot in our hearts for the man who can conquer fear. What if that does sometimes involve the breaking of a few rules? It may take a good man to be obedient: but to know when and how to be disobedient is something a great deal better.

QUIZZING THE CANDIDATE

About now the candidates for offices big and little are receiving questions from organizations and individuals, who want to know what they think about a long list of questions.

There are a great number of people and organizations whose minds are concentrated on one issue or line of issues. They want to know what the candidate thinks about that one thing, and they are indifferent to what he thinks on anything else. They will often vote for a poorly qualified person, simply because he happens to agree with them on the one point to which their interest is attached.

When people are elected to office, they must please the mass of the people. If they set out just to please the one idea people, they will give a very one sided administration. We need people who have all round qualifications, rather than crusaders who go into office with the purpose to settle some one problem alone.

Organizations have great power in politics now. When some such society quizzes a candidate about the idea or ideas which it holds to be predominant, it has the power quently rebel against the tendency of some minority interest to try to dictate and control the affairs of the government.

The candidate who refuses to cater to special elements, but who examines all questions seriously and tells the people frankly what

But I
Have failed somehow
To fathom all
Of them,
You are so far off
In the painted

A crown jewel in
An airy diadam
That futile hands
Can scarcely
Touch your gown,
And hold you
In a tender, warm
Embrace,
I only know somehow
You never frown
For God has
Given you
A saintly face—

And what we mean to say
Is,
We paint our models
With a fairy hand
And put them on
A pedestal of air,
And then some day
We cast them in
The sand
And act as though
We really did
Not care;
I hold twice strong

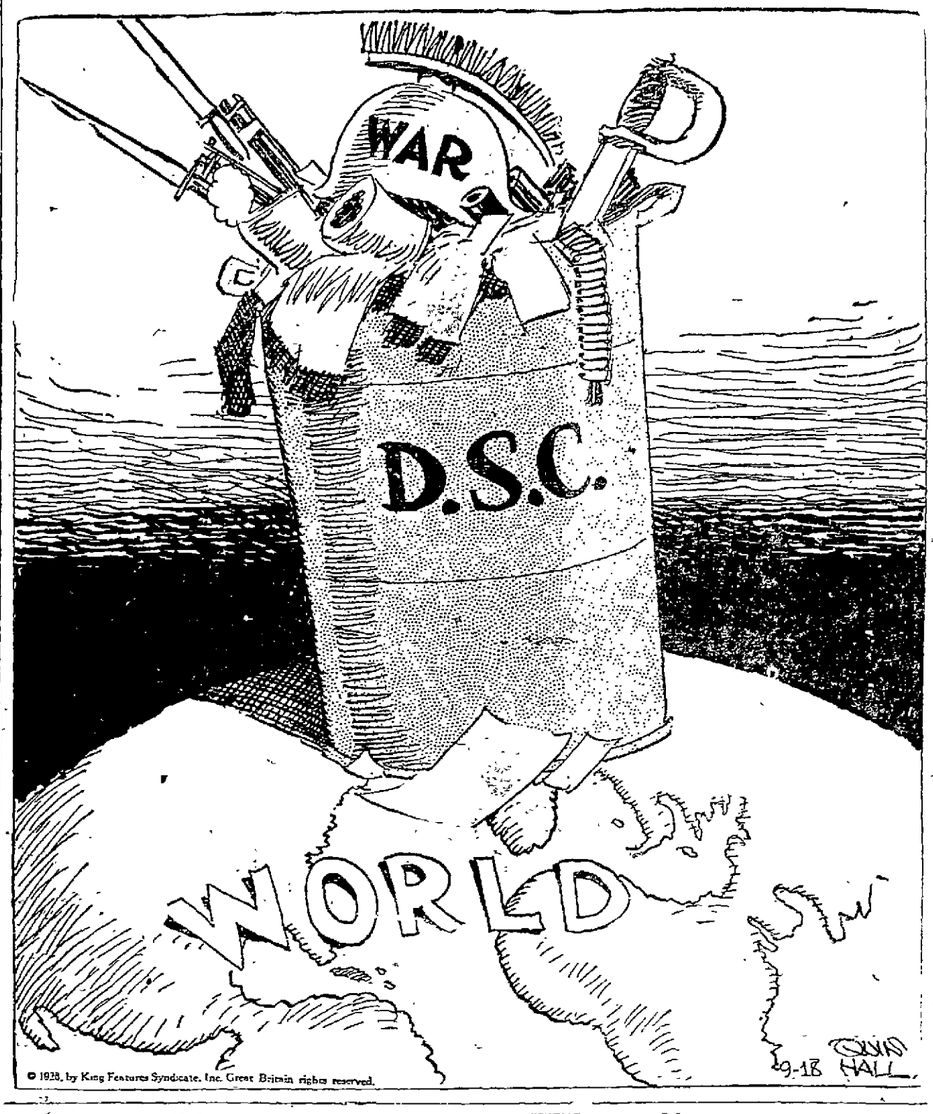
JUNK



Love's Ecstasy
by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty country girl working in New York as a stenographer, and Gary Chester, young engineer, are in love. Both are employed by W. B. Lingard, wealthy industrialist. Lingard, after years of search, finds the sweetheart of his youth, Marise de Renze, with whom Aleda is living. Goldie, eighteen-year-old sophisticate, learns that Marise is not her elder sister, but her mother! She demands an explanation and Marise pours out the story of her tragic early marriage to a convict who has since died. Goldie leaves home in anger—but not before she creates a break between Aleda and Gary, who sails for Italy on a business trip. Later Lingard is forced to make a hurried trip to Paris and takes Aleda along as secretary, the Countess Dellamanca, his niece, acting as chaperone. In Paris, Gary awaits them. He takes Aleda to see the sights nd they renew their betrothal. Back home Goldie joins Clive Mortimer in running a rum cargo from Canada. The car crashes and Goldie is killed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER LVII.

ALEDA walked up and down the deck of a home-going American boat.

Despite the progress of her love-affair, in Paris, her face was grave.

Gary had gone back to Italy on his investigations.

The Countess Dellamanca, bound for Lido-Venice, had traveled with him.

Aleda wasn't jealous. She trusted Gary. There was nothing definite of which she was afraid.

And yet, now that she was away from him, she felt anxious. She loved him so. Suppose an accident should happen to him?

There had been a railroad smash in Italy, quite recently!

Roaming around, as Gary must, among the huge dams that stemmed the Italian lakes and rivers, was it not possible that he might be injured. . . . ?

Or, in his capacity as engineer—she'd read, not long ago, of something similar—he might accidentally touch a voltage cable or a highly charged wire, and be electrocuted?

"Oh! I'm a fool to be so nervous!"

But it persisted, on this gray day, when the sky was weeping tears on a very grim and billowy Atlantic!

She thought of Goldie! Such a tragic end to a young life! In the Paris edition of the New York Herald—on the morning following her dinner at Saint Cloud with Gary (what an enchanted evening that had been!)—she had read about the fatal motor accident.

Goldie was dead! Clive Mortimer only bruised and cut and shaken—but under arrest, for running a rum cargo into the United States from Canada!

And poor Marise! What of her grief and loneliness?

"She adored Goldie! It's all too terrible!" Aleda paced up and down the damp deck.

It did seem as though love always brought sure suffering!

She had cabled Marise her deepest sympathy, immediately on reading the tragic news item.

William B. Lingard, too, had dispatched a long message.

"If only he and she would make it up, and marry, that would be the best thing in the world that could happen to poor Marise!"

With Countess Dellamanca off the track of her uncle (and William B. Lingard's niece would certainly veto the match, were she within range), wasn't there some chance that her old sweetheart would offer Marise a new chance in life?

Marise had seemed so happy recently.

She still cared for Lingard. She had never really loved the ne'er-do-well Englishman, Clive Mortimer, and now—responsible in a way as he was for the death of the adored, spoiled Goldie—to Goldie's mother he would be anathema!

He was in jail, too, and likely to remain there for some time.

Aleda's thoughts went back to Gary.

It was odd that he had sent no farewell cable to the ship . . .

* * *

It was a house of mourning on West Fortieth street. In her room upstairs, the shades drawn down, and staring dully into space, Aleda found Marise.

When the latter saw her friend, the tension broke. Marise wept uncontrollably.

"She was so young—only a child, Aleda! If I'd—if I'd only taken better care of her—kept her away from this city and all the temptations of life on Broadway—Goldie—my little girl—would be alive today!"

Aleda sought to comfort her. But in the face of such suffering, what could one say?

"You were wonderful to Goldie—always! You've nothing in the world to reproach yourself with!"

"That Clive! If only I'd never known him! It was through being with him—and I'm responsible!—that Goldie met her death!"

"Hush, hush, Marise! It was all taken out of your hands. Don't blame yourself!"

"I must! If I'd only kept her in the country—kept her away from these bad associations — Goldie would be here, with us!"

"But you had to earn your living. There was nothing the matter with the Harvest Moon your little club."

"It was the wrong environment for Goldie." Marsie drew a deep, sobbing breath, and reached for another handkerchief. "It was there we met Clive. And there were others—"

"But Goldie was a professional dancer?" Aleda tried to ease the sore heart of the dead girl's mother, who for years had struggled for her child unselfishly. "She had to get engagements somewhere! And she was under your eye most of the time!"

"I've been what the Bible calls a—a faithless steward! Goldie was my charge! I didn't take care of her right!"

The Harvest Moon was closed. Even had Marise had the heart to go there (which she hadn't) it had failed financially.

Marise was on the rocks—a bit of flotsam flung there by a ruthless fate—bankrupt in spirit and in money.

* * *

"Mr. Lingard—pardon me for speaking about it—but I'm so worried about my friend—you know her—Miss de Renze——"

Back in the office again, Aleda stood at her employer's desk.

"Hum! Ah!" He adjusted horn-rimmed glasses. "The death of her daughter must—er—er—have shaken her—considerably?"

"It did. She doesn't eat or sleep. She's all broken up."

He cleared his throat. He said, nervously: "And no doubt the—the other matter—is upsetting her? I understood from her daughter that Miss—er—er—de Renze was engaged to be married to that man who was with her daughter at the time of the accident. . . who is now in the hands of the law for rum-running. . . that Englishman?"

LACKS CRIME WAVE

Chief of Police W. H. Warner, Monday stated that this has been the most quiet summer for crime in Circleville since he has been on the police force. He said the last six months have been very quiet compared with the exciting times they had in other years. The chief advanced the opinion that many people did not have the desire to spend money for liquor and gay times they used to have.

Healthier Babies a Sign of Progress

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. COPELAND

THERE are few news items that could possibly thrill me as this one did! Here is what the newspaper headline said:

INFANT MORTALITY LOWEST ON RECORD.

Then followed this statement:

"The infant mortality rate in cities of the United States during 1927 was lower than in any previous year, the American Child Health Association announced."

Last year the rate was 64.9 (per thousand) deaths in the first year of life, as compared with 73.7 in 1926, and 100 in 1915. The report includes the figures of 638 cities in forty States. These are the States having approved registration laws, recording at least 90 per cent of all births.

It is gratifying, too, to know that the improvement is practically universal. Almost every city shares in the reduced death rate.

Among the cities of greater than 250,000 population, the lowest rate, 41, is found in Seattle. Minneapolis and Portland, Ore., come next with 47 each.

The ten largest cities in the United States show the following: New York and Cleveland, 56 each; St. Louis 57; Chicago, 63; Philadelphia, 64; Los Angeles, 67; Detroit, 70; Pittsburgh 72; Boston 76; Baltimore, 82.

Among other cities we find low figures, as follows: Bridgeport, Conn., 43; St. Paul 49; Oakland, Calif., and Grand Rapids, Mich., each 53; Tacoma, Wash., 49; Berkeley, Calif. 42.

Here are the lowest rates in Massauchetts the city of Medford has a record of 33, Dedham, 23, and Chelsea, 35; Oak Park, Ill., too, has 35; Summit N. J., 15; Coshocton, Ohio, 20.

Alameda, Cal., beats everybody. The record there is only 9 per 1000. This is truly remarkable.

I have recited these figures for the purpose of stimulating you to do your full part in making living conditions in your neighborhood what they should be. In my opinion this infant death rate is the most reliable index of the civilization and humanity of any given community.

Water supply, milk supply, housing conditions, cleanliness of the streets and atmosphere, hospital facilities, park system, wages of the bread-winner, and the quality and availability of medical and nursing care—upon these depends the fate of babies born into a given neighborhood.

What these are is largely, if not wholly, the result of the public attitude towards human beings. The quality of the citizenship, then, can be measured by what happens to the babies.

YEGG, CARRYING SAFE, IS KILLED

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18.—David M. Porris, died here today, the victim of a bullet fired by Lee Cumberworth, at two men he saw carrying a safe from the Roy Tensel butcher shop.

Porris was a brother of Phil Porris, 34, alleged gangster and bootlegger, who was shot in an alleged bootleggers' feud at the Bee Smoke shop on June 12, 1926. Twelve men were held today for questioning in connection with the attempted safe robbery.

Cumberworth, who saw the robbers from his home at the rear of the butcher shop, was exonerated for the killing by police.

BIBLE THOUGHT

THE GOOD DAY COMING — And He (God) shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people; and they shall beat their swords into ploughshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more. — Isa. 2:4.

PRAYER — Even so, come quickly, Lord Jesus.

THE TIME FOR ACTION

You have heard, of course, that obedience is one of the primary virtues. But did it ever occur to you that there are times when a willful, reckless disobedience is one of the finest qualities a man can exhibit?

An Italian submarine maneuvering off the coast of Spezia recently, got stuck in the mud at the bottom. Officers and men tried to work it loose, failed and prepared to die in the unpleasant way the crews of sunken submarines must die.

There was another submarine in the vicinity, and its commander discovered what had happened.

Now Italian naval rules provide that no submarine commander may try to salvage the wreck of another. Submarines are too costly and fragile for that sort of work; all that a commander may do is radio for help from the nearest naval base.

But this commander knew how to break a rule or two when the time came. Instead of calling help, he went down to the disabled submarine. By careful maneuvering he got the nose of his own ship against the sunken hull of the other, and pushed it loose. After an hour of ticklish work he freed it, and both submarines came safely to the surface.

If he had obeyed the rules, rescue ships would have arrived in 24 hours or so, and the divers would have gone to work. Probably they would have raised the sunken sub eventually, but, as sometimes happens in those cases, her crew might have been dead.

So the Italian navy department after starting to punish the disobedient commander, thought better of it and restored him to his command, heaping him with honors.

There are many rules in this complicated modern world, and most of them exist for our own good. A prudent man will obey them.

But there come times when prudence is a miserable virtue, and when rules exist only to be broken.

For prudence is the opposite of daring. And no matter how settled and orderly we may become, we still have an especially warm spot in our hearts for the man who can conquer fear. What if that does sometimes involve the breaking of a few rules? It may take a good man to be obedient; but to know when and how to be disobedient is something a great deal better.

QUIZZING THE CANDIDATE

About now the candidates for offices big and little are receiving questions from organizations and individuals, who want to know what they think about a long list of questions.

There are a great number of people and organizations whose minds are concentrated on one issue or line of issues. They want to know what the candidate thinks about that one thing, and they are indifferent to what he thinks on anything else. They will often vote for a poorly qualified person, simply because he happens to agree with them on the one point to which their interest is attached.

When people are elected to office, they must please the mass of the people. If they set out just to please the one idea people, they will give a very one sided administration. We need people who have all round qualifications, rather than crusaders who go into office with the purpose to settle some one problem alone.

Organizations have great power in politics now. When some such society quizzes a candidate about the idea or ideas which it holds to be predominant, it has the power quently rebel against the tendency of some minority interest to try to dictate and control the affairs of the government.

The candidate who refuses to cater to special elements, but who examines all questions seriously and tells the people frankly what

I DO not see
The beauty
Of your hair,
I do not know—
Perhaps your eyes
Are blue—
But faintly do I
Know your face
Is fair,
To me you are a
Vision good and true;
Perhaps you have a
Thousand moods,
But I
Have failed somehow
To fathom all
Of them,
You are so far off
In the painted
Sky,
A crown jewel in
An airy diadam
That futile hands
Can scarcely
Touch your gown,
And hold you
In a tender, warm
Embrace,
I only know somehow
You never frown
For God has Given you
A saintly face—

And what we mean to say
Is,
We paint our models
With a fairy hand
And put them on
A pedestal of air,
And then some day
We cast them in
The sand
And act as though
We really did
Not care;
I hold twice strong
The man who dreams
Today
And ever keeps his Vision within Reach,
Who steadfast vows
He'll not toss
It away
To die and wither
On a sullen

Love's Ecstasy
by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty country girl working in New York as a stenographer, and Gary Chester, young engineer, are in love. Both are employed by W. B. Lingard, wealthy industrialist. Lingard, after years of search, finds the sweetheart of his youth, Marise de Rense, with whom Aleda is living. Goldie, eighteen-year-old sophisticate, learns that Marise is not her elder sister, but her mother! She demands an explanation and Marise pours out the story of her tragic early marriage to a convict who has since died. Goldie leaves home in anger—but not before she creates a break between Aleda and Gary, who sails for Italy on a business trip. Later Lingard is forced to make a hurried trip to Paris and takes Aleda along as secretary, the Countess Dellamanca, his niece, acting as chaperone. In Paris, Gary awaits them. He takes Aleda to see the sights nd they renew their betrothal. Back home Goldie joins Clive Mortimer in running a rum cargo from Canada. The car crashes and Goldie is killed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER LVII.

ALEDA walked up and down the deck of a home-going American boat.

Despite the progress of her love-affair, in Paris, her face was grave.

Gary had gone back to Italy on his investigations.

The Countess Dellamanca, bound for Lido-Venice, had traveled with him.

Aleda wasn't jealous. She trusted Gary. There was nothing definite of which she was afraid.

And yet, now that she was away from him, she felt anxious. She loved him so. Suppose an accident should happen to him?

There had been a railroad smash in Italy, quite recently!

Roaming around, as Gary must, among the huge dams that stemmed the Italian lakes and rivers, was it not possible that he might be injured. . . . ?

Or, in his capacity as engineer—she'd read, not long ago, of something similar—he might accidentally touch a voltage cable or a highly charged wire, and be electrocuted?

"Oh! I'm a fool to be so nervous!"

But it persisted, on this gray day, when the sky was weeping tears on a very grim and billowy Atlantic!

She thought of Goldie! Such a tragic end to a young life! In the Paris edition of the New York Herald—on the morning following her dinner at Saint Cloud with Gary (what an enchanted evening that had been!)—she had read about the fatal motor accident.

Goldie was dead! Clive Mortimer only bruised and cut and shaken—but under arrest, for running a rum cargo into the United States from Canada!

And poor Marise! What of her grief and loneliness?

"She adored Goldie! It's all too terrible!" Aleda paced up and down the damp deck.

It did seem as though love always brought sure suffering!

She had cabled Marise her deepest sympathy, immediately on reading the tragic news item.

William B. Lingard, too, had dispatched a long message.

"If only he and she would make it up, and marry, that would be the best thing in the world that could happen to poor Marise!"

With Countess Dellamanca off the track of her uncle (and William B. Lingard's niece would certainly veto the match, were she within range), wasn't there some chance that her old sweetheart would offer Marise a new chance in life?

Marise had seemed so happy recently.

She still cared for Lingard. She had never really loved the ne'er-do-well Englishman, Clive Mortimer, and now—responsible in a way as he was for the death of the adored, spoiled Goldie—to Goldie's mother he would be anathema!

He was in jail, too, and likely to remain there for some time.

Aleda's thoughts went back to Gary.

It was odd that he had sent no farewell cable to the ship . . .

* * *

It was a house of mourning on West Fortieth street. In her room upstairs, the shades drawn down, and staring dully into space, Aleda found Marise.

When the latter saw her friend, the tension broke. Marise wept uncontrollably.

"She was so young—only a child, Aleda! If I'd—if I'd only taken better care of her—kept her away from this city and all the temptations of life on Broadway—Goldie—my little girl—would be alive today!"

Aleda sought to comfort her. But in the face of such suffering, what could one say?

"You were wonderful to Goldie—always! You've nothing in the world to reproach yourself with!"

"That Clive! If only I'd never known him! It was through being with him—and I'm responsible!—that Goldie met her death!"

"Hush, hush, Marise! It was all taken out of your hands. Don't blame yourself!"

"I must! If I'd only kept her in the country—kept her away from these bad associations — Goldie would be here, with us!"

"But you had to earn your living. There was nothing the matter with the Harvest Moon your little club."

"It was the wrong environment for Goldie." Marsie drew a deep, sobbing breath, and reached for another handkerchief. "It was there we met Clive. And there were others—"

"But Goldie was a professional dancer?" Aleda tried to ease the sore heart of the dead girl's mother, who for years had struggled for her child unselfishly. "She had to get engagements somewhere! And she was under your eye most of the time!"

"I've been what the Bible calls a—a faithless steward! Goldie was my charge! I didn't take care of her right!"

The Harvest Moon was closed. Even had Marise had the heart to go there (which she hadn't) it had failed financially.

Marise was on the rocks—a bit of flotsam flung there by a ruthless fate—bankrupt in spirit and in money.

* * *

"Mr. Lingard—pardon me for speaking about it—but I'm so worried about my friend—you know her—Miss de Renze——"

Back in the office again, Aleda stood at her employer's desk.

"Hum! Ah!" He adjusted horn-rimmed glasses. "The death of her daughter must—er—er—have shaken her—considerably?"

"It did. She doesn't eat or sleep. She's all broken up."

He cleared his throat. He said, nervously: "And no doubt the—the other matter—is upsetting her? I understood from her daughter that Miss—er—er—de Renze was engaged to be married to that man who was with her daughter at the time of the accident. . . who is now in the hands of the law for rum-running. . . that Englishman?"

LACKS CRIME WAVE

Chief of Police W. H. Warner, Monday stated that this has been the most quiet summer for crime in Circleville since he has been on the police force. He said the last six months have been very quiet, compared with the exciting times they had in other years. The chief advanced the opinion that many people did not have the desire to spend money for liquor and gay times they used to have.

Healthier Babies a Sign of Progress

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR COPELAND

THERE are few news items that could possibly thrill me as this one did! Here is what the newspaper headline said:

INFANT MORTALITY LOWEST ON RECORD.

Then followed this statement:

"The infant mortality rate in cities of the United States during 1927 was lower than in any previous year, the American Child Health Association announced."

Last year the rate was 64.9 (per thousand) deaths in the first year of life, as compared with 73.7 in 1926, and 100 in 1915. The report includes the figures of 638 cities in forty States. These are the States having approved registration laws, recording at least 90 per cent of all births.

It is gratifying, too, to know that the improvement is practically universal. Almost every city shares in the reduced death rate.

Among the cities of greater than 250,000 population, the lowest rate, 41, is found in Seattle. Minneapolis and Portland, Ore., come next with 47 each.

The ten largest cities in the United States show the following: New York and Cleveland, 56 each; St. Louis, 57; Chicago, 63; Philadelphia, 64; Los Angeles, 67; Detroit, 70; Pittsburgh 72; Boston 76; Baltimore, 82.

Among other cities we find low figures, as follows: Bridgeport, Conn., 43; St. Paul 49; Oakland, Calif., and Grand Rapids, Mich., each 53; Tacoma, Wash., 49; Berkeley, Calif., 42.

Here are the lowest rates: In Massauchetts the city of Medford has a record of 33, Dedham, 23, and Chelsea, 35; Oak Park, Ill., too, has 35; Summit, N. J., 15; Coshocton, Ohio, 20.

Alameda, Cal., beats everybody. The record there is only 9 per 1000. This is truly remarkable.

I have recited these figures for the purpose of stimulating you to do your full part in making living conditions in your neighborhood what they should be. In my opinion, this infant death rate is the most reliable index of the civilization and humanity of any given community.

Water supply, milk supply, housing conditions, cleanliness of the streets and atmosphere, hospital fa- cilities, park system, wages of th bread-winner, and the quality an availability of medical and nursin care—upon these depends the fa of babies born into a given n borhood.

What these are is largely, wholly, the result of the public tude towards human beings. quality of the citizenship, then, c be measured by what happens to t babies.

YEGG, CARRYING SAFE, IS KILLED

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18.—David M. Porris, died here today, the victim of a bullet fired by Lee Cumberworth, at two men he saw carrying a safe from the Roy Tensel butcher shop.

Porris was a brother of Phil Porris, 34, alleged gangster and bootlegger, who was shot in an alleged bootleggers' feud at the Bee Smoke shop on June 12, 1926. Twelve men were held today for questioning in connection with the attempted safe robbery.

Cumberworth, who saw the robbers from his home at the rear of the butcher shop, was exonerated for the killing by police.

OHIO DEMOCRATS HAVE LUNCHEON

Ohio Democrats held a luncheon Tuesday at the Neil House in Columbus. Those who attended were the chairman and secretaries of the county executive committees, state central committeemen and committeewomen, members of the state executive committee and state and congressional candidates.

The affair was secret, and reports from the counties were given. Democrats have sent poll books to the counties and a complete poll is to be made for the first time in many years. This work is to be concentrated in the districts in which the Democratic vote has been light in recent years.

CO-OP BUSINESS IN COUNTY IS LARGE

The business report of the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association for the month of August, which was presented by Harry J. Briggs, service manager, to the board of directors, showed a total value of $100,270.10. The volume consisted of 1,821 head of hogs; 235 finished cattle; 216 head feeder cattle; 152 calves; 208 sheep, or a total of 49 floors.

Livestock receipts at the local shipping point, Circleville, Saturday, Sept. 15, consisted of 46 head of cattle; 160 head of hogs; 342 head of sheep and lambs, and 45 veal calves.

The report indicates satisfaction which livestock farmers are securing through their cooperative marketing service.

JOHN MOGAN HURT IN STREET MISHAP

Widely Known Circleville Resident in Columbus Hospital After Accident.

John Mogan, 67 of N. Scioto-st. is in Mt. Carmel hospital with injuries he received in an accident in Columbus late Sunday. Mogan is a familiar figure to most residents of Circleville. For years he has operated an express wagon drawn by a blind sorrel horse and delivered paskages from the Pickens grocery.

Mr. Mogan is suffering from severe lacerations on the face and hands and his back was wrenched. He was said to have been hit by a car at the corner of Sullivant and Davis-aves. He was unconscious when taken to Mt. Carmel hospital.

When he regained consciousness he was able to tell something of the accident. An X-Ray was taken of his back but the results of this have not been made known here.

Mr. Mogan had gone to Columbus to spend the day as he had done frequently since a recent illness, which had forced him to take a vacation from his express wagon.

CONSTITUTION IS BEING CELEBRATED

Week Is Being Observed Throughout Nation By Schools, Civic Clubs.

This week will be observed as Constitution Week and will mark the 141st anniversary of the completion and signing of the Constitution of the United States.

This is the sixth year of the activities of the Constitution Anniversary Association.

The state superintendents of public instruction in each of the states have been asked to request that an hour be set aside during Constitution Week in all the schools for the purpose of calling attention to the anniversary, and for the meaning and value of the constitution.

Various civic clubs over the country will hold special constitution meetings during the week.

Owing to the Circleville schools getting organized, it will probably be the last of the week before the classes in the school rooms will study the plan and formation of the Constitution, local school officials said.

CITY GETS BRIEF REST FROM HEAT

Citizens of Circleville and vicinity who have been hoping for a break in the heat which settled over this section for the past week, had their wishes fulfilled as far as the morning hours are concerned.

Tuesday morning the mercury dropped to 62 degrees, according to Dr. H. R. Clarke, local forecaster. This is one of the lowest temperatures recorded this fall. Dr. Clarke said, however, the heat would probably be back again Wednesday.

Monday was a normal day according to his records. The minimum temperature was 55 degrees.

GOES TO HOSPITAL

Miss Josephine Tarbill, third and fourth grade school teacher at Atlanta, was taken to Mt. Carmel hospital Monday for observation.

Miss Tarbill had been away from her classes for one week and the doctor thought it advisable to take her to a hospital.

She was taken to Columbus in the Cash Kirk invalid coach, New Holland.

PASTOR, BROTHER FACING CHARGES

Trio Held To Madison County Grand Jury on Chicken Theft Charges.

LONDON, O., Sept. 18 — The Rev. Edwin Griggsby, Lockington, Shelby-co., his brother, W. H. Griggsby, and Dewey Rippitoe, were bound over to the Madison-co. grand jury by Justice Mary C. Clark of London, yesterday under bond of $5,000 on a charge of chicken stealing.

The men were unable to give bond and were remanded to jail.

They were arrested in West Jefferson by Deputy Sheriff Gorman Clark early last week when they were unable to explain satisfactorily the presence of three empty chicken crates and several sacks in the rear of their automobile.

The officer also found a piece of toweling in the car similar to cloth found at the home of Chaney Smith, South Solon, following the theft of 40 chickens a few nights ago.

Rev. Mr. Griggsby is said to have been preaching for some time in the vicinity of Lockington near Sidney. He told police he had attended the M. E. church conference in Springfield last week

PLANS NEW DETOUR

In answer to complaints about the Scioto Trail detour north of Circleville, L. H. Wisman, division highway engineer, Columbus, has answered that the detour will only be in effect a few weeks longer. He states that in two weeks northbound traffic will detour over Route 56 and to Columbus by way of Route 104, known as the Jackson Pike while paving operations are under way near South Bloomfield.

WOMAN ATTACKER APPEARS AGAIN

Frightens Farm Wife, Who Falls Downstairs, Severing Tendon In Her Knee.

LANCASTER, O., Sept. 18 — Authorities today redoubled their efforts to run down the fiend-attacker who has been terrorizing women in this section following his re-appearance again last night.

Mrs. Mabel Parris, 28, residing three miles south of here, reported she was suddenly confronted by the man outside the rear door of her home last night. He escaped in a cornfield.

Mrs. Parris was not harmed as the man stood upon an embankment at the rear of the home. She said she became aware of his presence when he uttered an uncanny groan and she turned about to see him standing with his arms outstretched toward her. Mrs Parris lives with her sister, Mrs Henry Shumaker.

The husband of Mrs. Revenna Hayes, the second victim of the attacker, reported a similar moaning.

Mrs. Goldie Cross was injured over the week-end because of the "maniac scare." She became frightened when her children said the man was in the house. She fell down a stairway and severed a tendon in her knee.

BURGLAR, IN STIR AGAIN, SEEKS JOB

ST. LOUIS, MO., Sept. 18— In celebration of his 21st birthday today, Bert Barrett, confessed burglar, sent the following notice to newspapers here:

"Wanted Satuation by young man; twelve years experience as purse snatcher and burglar, a failure in this line, but confident will make good in honest job if given a chance to go straight; references from several reformatories; escaped from two of them, paroled from the thers; dishonrably discharged from the navy; would prefer readmittance ot navy but will be satisfied with good paying position. LOU BLOOM WINS, DANDO DEFEATED

COLUMBUS, Sept 18 — Mitt wielders of Columbus and Mexico broke even in their boxing performances here last night

Lou Bloom, Columbus featherweight, outpointed Tony Escalanta, Mexican title holder, in ten rounds, while Shifty Dando, local welterweight, fell victim of a technical knockout in the tenth round before Fred Mahan, another Mexican.

Only a minute of the final round remained when Dando's seconds tossed in the sponge

Results of other matches: Bobby Evans, Columbus, defeated Marty Reese, Dayton, 6: Whitie Brown, Columbus, defeated Whitie Dando, Columbus, 4.

SENATORS ADVANCE FROM CELLAR POST

COLUMPUS, O. Sept. 18 — Columbus Senators were three games out of the cellar position today as a result of their 11 to 5 victory over the Louisville Colonels yesterday. The teams were scheduled to play a double header this afternoon and then go to Louisville where they will open the final series of the season Thursday.

Chief Meyers had little trouble holding the Colonels yesterday, while his mates pounded Ermie Koob and Henagar for 17 hits totaling 24 bases

WHAT STARS DID

P. WANER (383) — Singled once and scored one run in four times at bat.

ROGERS HORNSBY (381 — Doubled once and scored one run in four times at bat.

GOOSE GOSLIN (377) — Hit one single and scored a run in four times at bat

LOU GEHRIG (369 — Hit one triple and two singles scored two runs and batted in two in five times at bat

FREDDY LINDSTROM (352) —Singled once in four times at bat.

JIM BOTTOMLEY (331) — Hit home run and single, scored one run and batted in three in five times at bat.

AL SIMMONS (352)—Idle.

Baseball

first baseman, whose home run in the seventh inning with High and Frisch on bases, gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 5 to 4 victory over the Phillies.

—|o|—

Home runs by Mel Ott and Jimmy Welsh and the fine pitching of Carl Hubbell, enabled the New York Giants to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9 to 2.

—|o|—

Five Boston Braves pitchers were found for nineteen safeties to give the Chicago Cubs a 15 to 5 victory.

—|o|—

Pete Donohue weakened in the eighth inning and allowed the Brooklyn Robins to score five runs and win a 7 to 3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

—|o|—

Six costly errors and poor mound work by four St. Louis pitchers enabled the New York Yankees to win a 12 to 2 victory and gain one-half a game in the American league pennant race.

The Washington Senators gained the first division by winning their third straight from the Detroit Tigers, by a score of 9 to 2.

—|o|—

Fred Russell bested Ted Lyons in a mound battle and the Boston Red Sox won, 6 to 3, from the Chicago White Sox. Lyons allowed 10 hits while Russell was found for eight.

12 PLAYERS REPORT

Twelve men reported for the first football practice at Williamsport high school Friday. The Williamsport eleven will play their first game Friday, Oct. 5, with Clarksburg as their opponent. John Dunlap, of O. S U and E L. Dent, principal, are the coaches.

There are only 459 qualified aviators in the U. S. navy. Due to failure of many recruits to succeed in the service prospects for obtaining 1,200 in 1931 are discouraging, according to Acting Secretary of the Navy Warner.

The friend-maker

ADVERTISING plays no favorites—it makes friends of you and for you. It is constantly offering kindly assistance by introducing worthy merchandise to you. It tells you of the best foods; of the newest time and labor saving devices; of opportunities to save money by making certain purchases at certain stores on specified days. It even points the way that enables you to keep yourself physically fit and mentally alert.

Advertising is, unconsciously to you perhaps, your steadfast friend. It has established an era of good feeling between you, the stores, the manufacturers and their products. Advertising is honest and sincere. You can believe it and believe in the product it calls to your attention. Advertising is a real friend-maker.

OHIO DEMOCRATS HAVE LUNCHEON

Ohio Democrats held a luncheon Tuesday at the Neil House in Columbus. Those who attended were the chairman and secretaries of the county executive committees, state central committeemen and committeewomen, members of the state executive committee and state and congressional candidates.

The affair was secret, and reports from the counties were given. Democrats have sent poll books to the counties and a complete poll is to be made for the first time in many years. This work is to be concentrated in the districts in which the Democratic vote has been light in recent years.

CO-OP BUSINESS IN COUNTY IS LARGE

The business report of the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association for the month of August, which was presented by Harry J. Briggs, service manager, to the board of directors, showed a total value of $100,270.10. The volume consisted of 1,821 head of hogs; 235 finished cattle; 216 head feeder cattle; 152 calves; 208 sheep, or a total of 49 floors.

Livestock receipts at the local shipping point, Circleville, Saturday, Sept. 15, consisted of 46 head of cattle; 160 head of hogs; 342 head of sheep and lambs, and 45 veal calves.

The report indicates satisfaction which livestock farmers are securing through their cooperative marketing service.

JOHN MOGAN HURT IN STREET MISHAP

Widely Known Circleville Resident in Columbus Hospital After Accident.

John Mogan, 67 of N. Scioto-st. is in Mt. Carmel hospital with injuries he received in an accident in Columbus late Sunday. Mogan is a familiar figure to most residents of Circleville. For years he has operated an express wagon drawn by a blind sorrel horse and delivered paskages from the Pickens grocery.

Mr. Mogan is suffering from severe lacerations on the face and hands and his back was wrenched. He was said to have been hit by a car at the corner of Sullivant and Davis-aves. He was unconscious when taken to Mt. Carmel hospital.

When he regained consciousness he was able to tell something of the accident. An X-Ray was taken of his back but the results of this have not been made known here.

Mr. Mogan had gone to Columbus to spend the day as he had done frequently since a recent illness, which had forced him to take a vacation from his express wagon.

CONSTITUTION IS BEING CELEBRATED

Week Is Being Observed Throughout Nation By Schools, Civic Clubs.

This week will be observed as Constitution Week and will mark the 141st anniversary of the completion and signing of the Constitution of the United States.

This is the sixth year of the activities of the Constitution Anniversary Association.

The state superintendents of public instruction in each of the states have been asked to request that an hour be set aside during Constitution Week in all the schools for the purpose of calling attention to the anniversary, and for the meaning and value of the constitution.

Various civic clubs over the country will hold special constitution meetings during the week.

Owing to the Circleville schools getting organized, it will probably be the last of the week before the classes in the school rooms will study the plan and formation of the Constitution, local school officials said.

CITY GETS BRIEF REST FROM HEAT

Citizens of Circleville and vicinity who have been hoping for a break in the heat which settled over this section for the past week, had their wishes fulfilled as far as the morning hours are concerned.

Tuesday morning the mercury dropped to 62 degrees, according to Dr. H. R. Clarke, local forecaster. This is one of the lowest temperatures recorded this fall. Dr. Clarke said, however, the heat would probably be back again Wednesday.

Monday was a normal day according to his records. The minimum temperature was 55 degrees.

GOES TO HOSPITAL

Miss Josephine Tarbill, third and fourth grade school teacher at Atlanta, was taken to Mt. Carmel hospital Monday for observation.

Miss Tarbill had been away from her classes for one week and the doctor thought it advisable to take her to a hospital.

She was taken to Columbus in the Cash Kirk invalid coach, New Holland.

PASTOR, BROTHER FACING CHARGES

Trio Held To Madison County Grand Jury on Chicken Theft Charges.

LONDON, O., Sept. 18 — The Rev. Edwin Griggsby, Lockington, Shelby-co., his brother. W. H. Griggsby, and Dewey Rippitoe, were bound over to the Madison-co. grand jury by Justice Mary C. Clark of London, yesterday under bond of $5,000 on a charge of chicken stealing.

The men were unable to give bond and were remanded to jail.

They were arrested in West Jefferson by Deputy Sheriff Gorman Clark early last week when they were unable to explain satisfactorily the presence of three empty chicken crates and several sacks in the rear of their automobile.

The officer also found a piece of toweling in the car similar to cloth found at the home of Chaney Smith, South Solon, following the theft of 40 chickens a few nights ago.

Rev. Mr. Griggsby is said to have been preaching for some time in the vicinity of Lockington near Sidney. He told police he had attended the M. E. church conference in Springfield last week.

PLANS NEW DETOUR

In answer to complaints about the Scioto Trail detour north of Circleville, L. H. Wisman, division highway engineer, Columbus, has answered that the detour will only be in effect a few weeks longer. He states that in two weeks northbound traffic will detour over Route 56 and to Columbus by way of Route 104, known as the Jackson Pike while paving operations are under way near South Bloomfield.

WOMAN ATTACKER APPEARS AGAIN

Frightens Farm Wife, Who Falls Downstairs, Severing Tendon In Her Knee.

LANCASTER, O., Sept. 18 — Authorities today redoubled their efforts to run down the fiend-attacker who has been terrorizing women in this section following his re-appearance again last night.

Mrs. Mabel Parris, 28, residing three miles south of here, reported she was suddenly confronted by the man outside the rear door of her home last night. He escaped in a cornfield.

Mrs. Parris was not harmed as the man stood upon an embankment at the rear of the home. She said she became aware of his presence when he uttered an uncanny groan and she turned about to see him standing with his arms outstretched toward her. Mrs. Parris lives with her sister, Mrs. Henry Shumaker.

The husband of Mrs. Revenna Hayes, the second victim of the attacker, reported a similar moaning.

Mrs. Goldie Cross was injured over the week-end because of the "maniac scare." She became frightened when her children said the man was in the house. She fell down a stairway and severed a tendon in her knee.

BURGLAR, IN STIR AGAIN, SEEKS JOB

ST. LOUIS, MO., Sept. 18— In celebration of his 21st birthday today, Bert Barrett, confessed burglar, sent the following notice to newspapers here:
